Completing a QI Study?

Just because you may be calling it Quality Improvement, the IRB may not. It is best to submit your QI project to the IRB for review to ensure that you are compliant. UF has a Quality Improvement Registry https://qipr.ctsi.ufl.edu/approver/ , you must create an account and then answer the questions for QI certification.

- Very Important! If you intend to publish your QI project once it is complete, it has to go to the IRB for review as a retrospective study (even though you have already completed the project) – you will provide your original certificate approved as QI!
