

Presentations

2009

Sharma R, Leaphart CL, Tepas JJ III, Pieper P, Plumley DA, Quality J, Sola JE and Vasudevan V. Department of Surgery and Pediatrics, University of Florida College of Medicine, Jacksonville, Jacksonville, FL, Pediatric Surgery, Arnold Palmer Hospital for Children, Orlando, FL, (3)Division of Pediatric Surgery, University of Miami Miller School of Medicine, Miami, FL. Assessment of the Trajectory of Metabolic Derangement in Infants with Necrotizing Enterocolitis: Clues for Surgical Intervention. American Academy of Pediatrics, section of Pediatric Surgery, 2009, USA.

R Sharma , JJ Tepas III, C Leaphart, P Pieper, B Celso. Timing of Surgical Intervention in NEC can be determined by trajectory of metabolic derangement. To be presented at 56th Annual Congress of British Association of Paediatric Surgeons and at 10th Annual congress of the European Paediatric Surgeon's Association on June 19, 2009 at Graz, Austria.

Sharma R, Tan S<sup>1</sup>, Renfro W<sup>1</sup>, Hastings L<sup>1</sup>, Schreiber M<sup>1</sup>. Ibuprofen Lysine: A Modified Dosing Regimen for Patent Ductus Arteriosus. From College of Pharmacy<sup>1</sup> and College of Medicine, University of Florida at Jacksonville. Southeast Residency Conference (SERC) April 28, 2009, Athens, GA, USA.

2008

Huddleston, Kathryn: Presentation to Annual meeting of Healthy Mothers Healthy Babies. Risk factors in Infant Mortality Case." November 18, 2008.